

TUESDAY'S TILLINGS

Organic Garden Workshops • 2013 Spring Series

Orchard Pruning by Tom Burford

Tues. March 12 • 4:00PM

Listen to internationally known fruit tree expert Tom Burford talk about the important steps required for proper orchard/food forest pruning and see him in action! Find out how much to prune, where to make the pruning cuts, and when it should be done.

The True Black Gold by Shahriar Abbassi

Tues. March 19 • 5:00PM

Listen to Shahriar Abbassi talk about the importance of soil in gardening. He will review basic aspects of ground preparation throughout the seasons. Compost, fertilization, irrigation, and rotation will all be reviewed.

Beekeeping in the 21st Century by Paul Tabor

Tues. March 26 • 5:00PM

Listen to Paul Tabor talk about bees in the natural gardening process and how you can easily have your own. Without pollination, the garden and humanity would not exist. Bee amazed by the wonder of it all.

Grow Mushrooms by Glenn Clayton

Tues. April 2 • 5:00PM

Listen to Glenn Clayton talk about the most important techniques in growing mushrooms. He will focus on shitake production. Afterwards, you will be able to grow and harvest your own shitakes within the period of one year.

FREE AND OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

Location: Randolph College Organic Garden,
1 Quinlan Street, Lynchburg, VA 24503

Contact: Ludo Lemaitre (llemaitre@randolphcollege.edu)